It is with an immense feeling of pleasure and pride that we now present our new catalogue, with a number of new product features. Since setting up in 1990, we have continually developed our software to meet with customer requirements and needs. We are today the market leader in Scandinavia with many satisfied customers, ranging from independent translators to many of the largest companies in Scandinavia.

This year, we have launched a new website with downloadable software, as well as a new version of WordFinder, namely WordFinder 9 Professional. This new version contains many new features that you read more about further on in the catalogue. I would however like to highlight a number of significant features.

We now have a new feature called Writing Assistance, which provides you with suggestions for words, translations and synonyms as you write. There is also a glossary test for those who wish to learn new words or challenge their friends and themselves in a vocabulary test. When it comes to inflected words, we have improved search capabilities when looking for inflected words and irregular verbs. The user dictionary function has also been improved and it is now easier to batch add words, import files directly from Microsoft Excel, manage user dictionaries etc.

We have added more languages and dictionaries to our product range during the past year. Today we cooperate with more than 20 dictionary publishers around the world and can provide more than 100 dictionaries in 12 different languages. Besides our dictionaries, we also offer software that helps you carry out grammar, spelling and style checks on English content.

We are constantly developing our software range and identifying new innovative solutions for our customers. I genuinely hope that you will find a solution that meets your requirements in this year's catalogue!

WordFinder Language Solution – for better understanding.

Yours sincerely
